

harmony with the doors that still to be a moment the prisoner's defiance broke and the fourteenth member of the gang crumpled into a heap in the corner, weeping without reserve.

Later he was removed to cell 17 in the receiving wing of the old jail. His defiance increased with privacy.

Trustees Hanson and Klarkowski waived aside Deputy Sheriff Joseph A. Thoney in the school board graft investigation. Following are the principal results of the day's inquiry and court proceedings:

1. Robert Cochrane, private detective, sentenced to ninety days in jail when he told the special grand jury and Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley it was none of their business who hired him to harass members of the jury.

2. Joseph Spain and Charles Driscoll, school engineers, again refused to reveal persons they bribed to secure legislation and a raise in pay. They were given until Thursday to return and answer. They did, however, give evidence on a deal consummated by the board of education.

3. Fred Lundin, still among the abductees, is the subject of an investigation. The jurors probed school deals that made wealth for the "fountain head" of all school appointments.

4. Corporation Counsel Samuel Etelson, to be recalled by the jury and given opportunity to "correct" previous testimony.

5. No meeting of the board of education was held. A committee of women said that no meetings have been held for over a month, due to tactics of Trustees Severinghaus and Davis.

A day packed full of incidents began with the hunt for the trustees who were destined to serve jail sentences. Former Trustee Remy was the first to be taken in charge. Late in the evening Hans Hanson and Dr. Klarkowski put in their appearances. The details of the imprisonment of the trio is related in another column.

Meanwhile the grand jurors and Attorney General Daugherty were digging into records of Fred Lundin's financial transactions with the board of education. A subpoena was issued for him a week ago but he has not yet returned into the jurisdiction of Cook county.

His only move was a letter to State's Attorney Grove in which he protested against the publicity he was receiving but made no offer to voluntarily appear as a witness. He would be at his home, outside the county, in a few days, he said.

The jurors learned that his insurance firm, the O. W. Huncke Co., had a monopoly on school board insurance and that he had been paid $10,000 a year. In Judge McKinley's court he was asked:

"Do you believe it is none of the court's business?"

"Yes," he replied.

"Then," said Attorney General Daugherty, "is that the reason you are hiding the identity of your employer?"

"Yes, that's the real reason," he replied and was led away to jail.

Demand Complete Immunity. Spain and Driscoll, who since their first defiance of the grand jury and their subsequent occupation of jail cells, have been indicted on a charge of bribing a member of the state legislature and a state senator and of seeking to bribe school trustees, refused again to name the recipients of the bribes. They demanded complete immunity if forced to tell, they said, in a written resume of their reasons for the refusal.

How a large repair job had been commenced on the rear Elgin school and 60 per cent of the work completed one month before the contract was let was told by them. In addition Mr. Cochrane learned the contract called for much more work than was done.

School Scandal Investigation Gives Courts and Grand Jury Day Crowded with Events

Developments came rapidly in the investigation of the school board graft yesterday. Following are the principal results of the day's inquiry and court proceedings:

MELLON'S RULES TO KEEP SEA DRY TO APPEAR TODAY

Lawyers to Rush Appeal to Supreme Court.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—(Special.)—An official pronouncement of administration policies with respect to the enforcement of the Daugherty ruling extending prohibition to the high seas, will be issued tomorrow by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

The statement will set forth the manner in which the ruling will be enforced pending the issuance of regulations and also pending a final decision on the legal points by the Supreme court.

Today's cabinet meeting was devoted exclusively to this subject. President Harding discussing Mellon's Secretary Mellon and Attorney General Daugherty various questions involved.

Appeal Being Hurdled. Attorney General Daugherty announced that he is doing everything possible to expedite the consideration by the Supreme court of an appeal from the decision by Judge Hand in the federal court at New York, refusing to grant a permanent restraining order against the enforcement of the order.

Frank Lord, counsel for the Cunard and Anchor lines, came to Washington to appear before Justice Brandeis of the Supreme court to seek order restraining the enforcement of the Daugherty ruling pending a final decision. Mr. Lord conferred with department of justice officials.

The belief was expressed that arrangements can be made by which the Supreme court will take up the liquor cases during November and give a decision without delay.

The regulations for the enforcement of the Daugherty ruling are still in the hands of the legal staff of the internal revenue bureau.

Included in Mr. Mellon's statement will be a reference to the policy with respect to internal possessions.

U. S. Boats Get Wet Orders. New York, Oct. 24.—(Special.)—In spite of Attorney General Daugherty's ruling, American vessels must be "wet" to clear British ports. This became known late today when the shipping board vessel President Adams, operated by the United States lines, docked at Hoboken.

Officials of the British board of trade in London, it was said, refused to issue clearance papers to Capt. DeLaurie of the President Adams unless he carried aboard a gallon of brandy for every 100 steerage passengers aboard.

So when the vessel left London Oct. 14 she carried five gallons of brandy. The British shipping laws, it was stated, require that liquor must be included in the ship's stores in case of sickness or disaster.

DRY AGENT'S SON, AGED 7, CHAMP SLEUTH OF ALL

When Prohibition Officer David R. Edfield discovered his 7 year old son, Richard, trying to figure out the answer to a "two times two" on the back of a prescription book yesterday, he decided to investigate.

It didn't take him long to learn where his offspring had obtained the book. And a few hours later Edfield led a raid on a house at 1141 South street, where "perfect" books containing more than 100,000 numbered prescription blanks were seized, together with the equipment used in producing them.

After the raid it was said the place never has been suspected of being the source of fake prescriptions, and that thousands of pints of whisky would have cleared through drug stores but for a series of coincidences beginning with a small fire in the house Monday afternoon.

Firemen were called to the blaze just as school was letting out and had a crowd of small boys at their heels while they were fighting the fire. Much to the delight of the youngsters, the firemen threw a bundle of books into the yard. There was a scramble, and the youthful Edfield came out with enough prescriptions to obtain forty gallons of drug store liquor.

After the fire had been extinguished the residents of the house made a canvass of the neighborhood in an effort to recover the books. The boys claimed were bona fide, but somehow or other they missed the Edfield home. When the prohibition agents reached the prescription plant, they found it deserted.

BLAMES RUIN OF WAR FOR VAST FRENCH DEFICIT

PARIS, Oct. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—The money spent for the reconstruction of northern France, devastated by the Germans in the great war, is entirely responsible for the deficit of 4,000,000,000 francs in the French budget for 1923. Maurice Baklanowski, budget reporter, told to the chamber of deputies today.

He urged that the problem be met squarely with concrete proposals for an arrangement to collect from Germany.

M. Baklanowski said the reconstruction work, coupled with the war expenditures, had caused the French public debt to increase from 25,000,000,000 francs to 221,000,000,000 francs since 1914.

The budget reporter advocated abandonment of the policy of issuing short term internal loans as well as treasury and national defense bonds, as the interest on these bonds alone now amounted to more than 4,000,000,000 francs annually, or a larger amount than the deficit.

Yanks in Paris Celebrate When Dollar Buys 14 Francs. (Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) PARIS, Oct. 24.—The American colony is celebrating tonight the fact that the dollar will buy more than 14 francs for the first time since Dec. 2.

The Yanks have organized parties in the restaurants to rejoice at the old "dollar" sudden increase in strength. Although the French boosted their prices steadily after the armistice while the dollar climbed to 17 francs, they did not reduce prices when the dollar fell as low as 10 francs.

After the fire had been extinguished the residents of the house made a canvass of the neighborhood in an effort to recover the books. The boys claimed were bona fide, but somehow or other they missed the Edfield home. When the prohibition agents reached the prescription plant, they found it deserted.

Stirs Recountment of Labor. The Wednesday elections caused the most bitter recriminations of the Labor party who had many workmen were not allowed to vote.

It has been suggested that the polling day a legal holiday but seems difficult as parliament is sitting. A proclamation by the monarch might be legal and this is being considered.

Mr. Lloyd George has almost completed packing and will leave for his summer home tomorrow, when Mr. Lloyd will take possession of the part of the building. It is his belief that he will take up residence until after the election.

Mr. Lloyd George's new home, Vincent square is a modest little house and he has taken a house in London street for his new party headquarters. This latter is a few miles from the residence of former Minister H. H. Asquith, leader of Liberals. J. C. Davies, former secretary to Mr. Lloyd George, will be in charge of the political headquarters. Two other secretaries, Sir Edwy and G. H. Shakespeare, are slated for parliament at the conclusion.

McKenna Deserts Asquith. Mr. Bonar Law's Glasgow speech put forward to Thursday, Lloyd George and Sir Robert B. will speak there Saturday.

Reginald McKenna, chairman of London City and Midland bank, was Liberal and chancellor of the exchequer in the Asquith government came out at the City Conservancy today as a supporter of Mr. Law, whom he declared stood for "and sanity in administration, what the country needs now. McKenna's desertion of the Asquith camp was a severe blow to that which is in danger of being the new coalition.

The reversal of the policy of Daily Mail and the Mirror, paper controlled by Lord Rothermere, and successor to Lord Northcliffe, three to cause much amusement in the Asquith camp.

Mr. Lloyd George's health is improving. Mr. Bonar Law as the for England's need. Today he is being doubt on Mr. Bonar Law's government criticizing his lack of initiative program and is predicted.

ABILITY GETS SHARE OF BONAR LAW JOBS

New British Cabinet to Take Hold Friday.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, Oct. 24.—(By Tribune Special.)—Prime Minister Bonar Law announced the composition of the new British cabinet tonight. The members were:

President of the council, Marquess of Salisbury, Viscount Cave.
Chancellor of the exchequer, Stanley Baldwin.
Secretary for home affairs, William C. Churchill.
Secretary for foreign affairs, Marquess Curzon.
Secretary for the colonies, the Duke of Devonshire.
Secretary for India, Viscount Peel.
Secretary for war, the Earl of Derby.
First lord of the admiralty, Lieut. Col. C. M. S. Anson.
President of the board of trade, Sir Philip Lloyd George.
Minister of health, Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen.
Minister of agriculture and fisheries, Sir Robert A. Sanders.
Secretary for Scotland, Viscount Novar.
Attorney general, Douglas M. G. Hogg.
Lord advocate, W. A. Watson.

His King's Hand Friday.
The president of the board of education, the minister of labor, the first commissioner of works and minister of transport, and the lord of the privy seal will be announced later.

King George has summoned the privy council for tomorrow at which the outgoing ministers will turn over their seals and the king's hand the privy council Friday.
It has now been announced that the election will be held on Nov. 15, which is the earliest possible meeting of parliament to pass the Irish constitution. This date will allow parliament to meet on Nov. 20.

Stirs Resentment of Labor.
The Wednesday elections have caused the most bitter resentment on the part of the Labor party who fear that many workers will not be able to vote. It has been suggested to make polling day a legal holiday but this is difficult as parliament is not sitting. A proclamation by the king might be legal and this point is being considered.

Mr. Lloyd George has almost completed packing and will leave 10 Downing street tomorrow when Mr. Bonar Law will take possession of the office of the building. It is hardly likely that he will take up residence until after the election.
Mr. Lloyd George's new house in Mount square is a modest little place but he has also taken a house in Abington street for his new party headquarters. The latter is a few doors from the residence of former Prime Minister H. H. Asquith, leader of the Liberal. J. C. Davies, former private secretary to Mr. Lloyd George, will be secretary of the political headquarters. The other secretaries, Sir Edward Grey and G. H. Shakespeare, are candidates for parliament at the coming election.

McKenna Deserts Asquith.
Mr. Bonar Law's Glasgow speech has put forward the Thursday. Mr. Lloyd George and Sir Robert Horne will speak there Saturday.
Hugh McKenna, chairman of the London City and Midland bank, a former Liberal and chancellor of the exchequer in the Asquith government, came out at the City Conservative club today as a supporter of Mr. Bonar Law, whom he declared stood for safety and sanity in administration, which is what the country needs now. Mr. McKenna's desertion of the Asquith Liberals was a severe blow to that party, which is in danger of being absorbed by Mr. Lloyd George's Liberal wing of the new coalition.

The reversal of the policy of the Daily Mail and the Mirror, papers controlled by Lord Rothermere, brother-in-law of Lord Northcliffe, comes to cause much amusement here. A week ago Lord Rothermere was calling for Mr. Lloyd George's head and praising Mr. Bonar Law as the leader of the country's need. Today he is casting doubt on Mr. Bonar Law's ability to govern, criticizing his lack of a definite program and is predicting Mr. Lloyd George's early return, calling him the greatest Englishman of the generation.

Refused Rothermere's Policies.
The explanation is said to be that Mr. Bonar Law refused to accept Lord Rothermere's foreign policy which includes British withdrawal from Palestine, Mesopotamia and Chanak and also declined to appoint the editor's son, Edmund Harnsworth, M. P., who is only twenty-four, as under-secretary of foreign affairs in place of his brother, Cecil Harnsworth, who is retiring from office.

This is not the only case of a revival of Lloyd George sentiment in the country. The Glasgow Herald, the most powerful paper in Scotland, which has always been Conservative, is supporting the Chamberlain-Lloyd George coalition and both Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Chamberlain are receiving messages of support from all over the country.

Chicken Bone Lodged in Girl's Throat Causes Death.

DEFENDED NAME FOR "BABY GUY"; TO GET $25,000

Stillman Is Denounced in Decision.

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 24.—James A. Stillman, former head of the National City bank, is given a remarkable exoneration in a report handed down by Justice Morschauer of the state Supreme court today.
The justice awarded $25,000 fees to John E. Mack for his services as guardian of Baby Guy Stillman and for the fight which Mack made to defend the name of the child from the charge of illegitimacy made by his father.
The court upheld the decision of the referee who refused the divorce which was asked by the former banker; declared that Stillman had failed to prove his charges of adultery against his wife, and said that the decision of the referee that Stillman had been guilty of adultery with Florence Leeds, former chorus girl, had been proved by the evidence.
Banker Spent Much for Evidence.
The justice declared that Stillman had come into the court "with clean hands," and denounced the "sinister effort to soil the name of the child." Stillman also was declared to have spent large sums in the purchase of evidence, this referring to the $15,000 which it was admitted was used to get possession of the letters which were written by Mrs. Stillman to Fred K. Beauvais, the Indian guide who was named by the banker as respondent. This was in reply to the claim of Mr. Stillman's counsel that the fees and other costs allowed were exorbitant.
The justice described the original litigation as "most unusual," asserting that the banker and his wife were persons of high social standing and great wealth, and referred to the number of witnesses brought from various states to testify.
Praises Guy's Guardian.
"The importance of the case to the infant defendant was two-fold," the decision said. "First, and of paramount importance, was his name and birthright; second was the right of inheritance in certain trust funds created under the will of the father of the plaintiff."
The testimony showed a remarkable situation, the decision said, requiring unusual alertness, industry, and activity on the part of the guardian, and said, the series ended yesterday, when the state court on the ground that he was not legally a resident of this state, was denied today. The court's action makes it necessary for the alinger to appear before a notary this week.

FISHING BOATS TO RACE TODAY; FORGET GROUCH

Stillman Is Denounced in Decision.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—The competition for the fishing vessel championship of the north Atlantic, seemingly wrecked on the rocks of controversy, was apparently saved for a racing decision tonight. The skipper and crew of the Gloucesterman Henry Ford at a meeting tonight decided to go back to their boat, take out the ballast put aboard today for fishing, and try to beat the Bluenose again and win officially a second race necessary for possession of the international cup.
H. R. Silver of Halifax, N. S., chairman of the board of trustees of the cup, gave assurances that the technical violation of the rules involved in the ballast loading would be overlooked.
Capt. Morrissey explained the action as due to a desire to meet the public demand for competitive disposition of the cup. So far as the men of the Ford themselves were concerned, he said, the series ended yesterday, when they led the Bluenose over the line a second time.
Refuses to Dismiss Suit Against Mme. Matzenauer
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 24.—A petition of Margaret Matzenauer, opera singer, to have the divorce complaint of her husband, Floyd Gitzbach, a Del Monte, Cal., chauffeur, dismissed in the state court on the ground that he was not legally a resident of this state, was denied today. The court's action makes it necessary for the alinger to appear before a notary this week.

WIDOW SAW HALL SLAIN, BUT CAN'T IDENTIFY SLAYER

Special Prosecutor Begins Inquiry Into Murder.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—With Wilbur A. Mott, special deputy attorney general, actively in charge of the investigation of the Hall-Mills murder case, the state today made known the name of the reputed eye-witness to the tragedy and intimations were made by officials that sensational developments and perhaps arrests would be forthcoming within a day or two.

The eye-witness, officials admitted, is Mrs. Jane Gibson, a widow, who lives on a farm not far from the Phillips place, where the rector and choir singer were murdered Sept. 14.
Disatisfied With Prosecutor.
Dissatisfaction with the failure of Prosecutor Beckman to present the woman's story to the grand jury because he contended the evidence was insufficient for indictment, caused other officials to reveal her identity today and to tell her account of the slaying. Mr. Beckman's stand was taken when Mrs. Gibson failed to identify a woman, prominently mentioned in the case, as the person she saw at the scene. Mrs. Gibson refused to talk to reporters and turned three savage dogs loose on the yard of her home when they insisted on interviewing her.

Her story, as recounted by officials, relates that she left her home on the night of the murder, astride a mule, in hopes of apprehending petty thieves who had been robbing her chicken coops and corn cribs.
Her march led her across fields to the Phillips place, she said, as she believed, the deserted farmhouse was used as a cache by the thieves.

See Two Men, Two Women.
Standing close to the little crab-apple tree just off this lane, and not far from the farmhouse, according to Mrs. Gibson's story, were two men and two women. Their figures were "silhouetted" in a dark night and she could not see them distinctly.

Mrs. Gibson says she saw the flash of a pistol and heard a shot, and saw one of the figures drop. Then she heard a woman's voice cry out, "Oh, —" mentioning the name of a man who has figured as an important witness in the case. Then the same woman's voice cried: "Don't! Don't! Don't!"
The farm woman's mule then backed away. Mrs. Gibson heard some more shots, though she does not remember how many, and saw another figure fall. She believes the first was a man, the second a woman. After the last shots she saw one of the remaining two figures, believed to be a woman, put her hands on her companion's shoulders and repeat, "Oh, —" saying the same man's name she had used before. Digging her heels into the mule's flanks, Mrs. Gibson rode away.

Mrs. Hall Summoned.
When the authorities first heard her story last week Mrs. Frances N. Hall, the clergyman's widow, and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevenson, were summoned to the courthouse. Mrs. Hall was confronted with Mrs. Matthews, wife of the caretaker on the Phillips farm.
Mrs. Hall was asked to take off her mourning hat and put on the light gray coat she wore on the night of the murder. It is now believed Mrs. Gibson was the mysterious "peeper" referred to as watching Mrs. Hall from a concealed place while she was confronted with the Hungarian woman.

I. W. W. PLOT TO POISON TROOPS TOLD AT TRIAL

"Wobblies" at Stock Yards During War.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 24.—W. E. Townsend, who said he formerly was the "right hand man" of William D. Haywood, head of the Industrial Workers of the World, testified at the trial of ten members of that organization here today that he and other members of the I. W. W. conspired to send poisoned canned goods to the American soldiers in France during the world war and to wreck trains.

Townsend, who was a surprise witness for the prosecution against the ten men who are charged with violation of the state criminal syndicalism law, testified that in one of the big packing houses in Chicago 300 or 400 industrial workers were at work during the war and that part of their task was to test canned goods before shipment. Instead of condemning the cans, he said, the industrial workers would let them pass.

Wanted to Poison Yanks.
"We wanted to cripple the packers and also we were opposed to the war," Townsend testified. "We used to say, 'Let them poison Uncle Sam's damned gunners.'"

Further to ruin food contained in the cans, Townsend said, the workers drove in the nails on the boxes so they would pierce the cans, and sometimes nails were driven through the boxes at places where they were not needed in order to ruin the contents.

He testified that he had obtained employment on at least two railroads during the world war, with instructions to blow them up; that he had served in various branches of the military service, including the machine at Mare Island, Cal., and that the I. W. W. carried on an extensive system of sabotage in the harvest fields of the middle west.

Destroyed Harvest Fields.
In their sabotage of the harvest fields, Townsend testified, harvesters were destroyed, hay fields fired, and harvested wheat often destroyed by poisoning the bundles of wheat upside down so that the kernels of wheat drew moisture from the ground and spoiled. All of these acts, Townsend related on the stand, are a part of a general plan, and crews of men are assigned to the work of destruction.

In reply to questions by Assistant District Attorney Romeo Hughes relative to the desire of Haywood to control the fighting branches of the service, Townsend testified:
"Haywood complimented me on my work while in the army, navy, and marines, and he told me that it was important 'to control Uncle Sam's gunners.' Another time he said, 'If I had 50,000 men like you I would show this damned country what I could do.'"

LANE'S LETTERS SHOW WILSON AS CABINET SAW HIM

Secretive, Fretful, Slow to Take Action.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—A series of letters, describing in detail the American war cabinet and showing an intimate picture of Woodrow Wilson as he appeared while presiding over the secret meetings of his official family, appeared in book form today.

FRANKLIN E. LANE
(Harris & Ewing Photo.)

The letters, written by the late Franklin E. Lane, secretary of the interior in the cabinet of President Wilson from 1913 to 1920, have been collected and edited by his widow, Anne Wintermute Lane, and have been published by Houghton Mifflin company.

Ex-President's Moods Revealed.
The correspondence reveals, among other things, how the President frequently lost patience with the tremendous problems confronting him, and how at other times discouragement crowded him to such a degree that he was prompted to turn bitterly upon his advisers when they failed to agree with him.

Thought Both Sides Bad in War.
The President said he didn't wish to see either side win, for both had been equally indifferent to the rights of neutrals. Mr. Lane wrote to his brother on Feb. 17, 1917, commenting on a particularly animated cabinet discussion.

On the subject of preparedness, even a few months before the United States entered the war, Mr. Lane quoted President Wilson as being "not in sympathy." Writing again to his brother Feb. 16, 1917, Mr. Lane said: "At our dinner to the President last night he said he was not in sympathy with any great preparedness—that Europe would be mad and money-poor by the end of the war."

A Sleepy Chief of Staff.
Continuing, Mr. Lane added a few observations of his own.
"The army and the navy are so set and stereotyped and stand-pat that I am almost hopeless as to moving them to the wise, large and wholesome job," he wrote. "They are governed by red tape worse than any union. The chief of staff fell asleep at our meeting to-

WOMAN ROUTS ARMED THIEF; HE GETS ONLY $20

Alone in the house with her 22 months old granddaughter, Mrs. Alvina Whitten, 1925 East 42d street, attacked a burglar, armed with a revolver, early yesterday morning and drove him from the house.

Mrs. Whitten, a middle aged woman, was awakened about 4 o'clock by a noise in the kitchen. Getting a revolver, she tried to call the police over the telephone, but the exchange returned her nickel and the noise drew the attention of the burglar, who had entered the office of E. W. Knox, in Mrs. Whitten's apartment. He attacked her, striking her over the head with a revolver, but Mrs. Whitten fought back till the burglar became alarmed and jumped through a window.

Mrs. Whitten fired one shot after him and called the police again, who found the burglar in the window sill. The burglar had taken $20 from Knox's desk.

day. Mars and Morpheus in one." Again to his brother, Feb. 25, Secretary Lane wrote:

"On Friday we had one of the most animated sessions of the cabinet that I suppose has ever been held under this or any other President. It all arose out of a very innocent question of mine as to whether it was true that the wives of American consuls, on leaving Germany, had been stripped naked, given an acid bath to detect writing on their flesh, and subjected to other indignities.

Disease Ship Convoys.
Lane answered that it was true. Then I asked Houston about the bread riots in New York. This led up to discussion of the great problem which we had all been afraid to raise—why shouldn't we send our ships out with guns and convoys? Daniels said we must not convoy—that would be dangerous. (Think of a secretary of the navy telling of danger!)

The President said the country was not willing that we should take any risks of war. "I said that I got no such sentiment out of the country. This the President took as a suggestion that we should work up a propaganda of hatred against Germany. Of course, I said I had no such idea, but I felt that in a democracy the people were entitled to know the facts."

Lashes His Official Family.
McAdoo, Houston, and Redfield joined me. The President turned on them bitterly, especially on McAdoo, and reproached all of us with appealing to the spirit of the 'code duello.' We couldn't get the idea out of his head that we were bent on pushing the country into war.

Houston talked of resigning after the meeting. McAdoo will—within a year, I believe. I tried to smooth them down by recalling our past experiences with the President. We have had to push and push to get him to take any forward step. He comes out right, but he is slower than a glacier—and things are mighty disagreeable when ever anything has to be done."

Post-War Discussion on Russia.
In addition to his voluminous correspondence, which included letters to virtually every person of importance in the United States, Mr. Lane made many notes on incidents occurring in his daily life. Among these were copious comments on the cabinet meetings. In one of these notes, dated March 1, 1918, he said: "Yesterday, at cabinet meeting, we had the first real talk of war in weeks, yes, in months. Burleson brought up the matter of Russia—should we support Japan in taking Siberia, or even Vladivostok? Should we join Japan actively—in force?"

"The President said 'no' for the very practical reason that we had no ships. We had difficulty in providing for our men in France and for our allies. The President never used this word, saying that we are not allies."

Picture of a Dull Session.
In a note dated March 13, 1918, Secretary Lane wrote: "Nothing talked of at cabinet that would interest a nation, a family, or a child. No talk of war. No talk of Russia or Japan. Talk by McAdoo about some bills in congress, by the President about giving the veterans of the Spanish war leave, with pay, to attend their annual encampment. And he treated this seriously as if it were a matter of first importance."

"Yesterday we had a cabinet meeting," he wrote under date of Oct. 23, 1918. "All were present. The President was manifestly disturbed. For some weeks we have spent our time at cabinet meetings largely in telling stories. Even at the meeting of a week ago, the day on which the President sent his reply to Germany—his second note of the Paris series—we were given no view of the note, which was already in Lansing's hands and was emitted at 4 o'clock."

Just Before the Armistice.
Germany came back with an acceptance of the President's terms—a superficial acceptance at least—since the appeal to the cabinet yesterday. "This was his opening: 'I do not know what to do. I must ask your

What the Shayne label means in Fur Coats

Aside from the confident knowledge of the owner of a Shayne Fur Coat that the label in her coat is a mark of superlative quality... there are other points concerning the Shayne label that women interested in furs should know.

The pelts from which Shayne furs are fashioned are chosen individually... each must be right up to the Shayne standard... or they are rejected. Of the original 100% selected, the final analysis eliminates 15%. Thus the use of furs of impeccable character and quality is assured... a quality that is remembered a long time after the price is forgotten.

Shayne furs are recognized as authentic interpretations of the vogue... Shayne models are original and exclusive... their distinguished appearance is emphatic proof of how the Shayne label symbolizes style.

It is also a good thing to know that Shayne prices are moderate... their range is sufficient to meet with every woman's requirements.

ELLIS ISLAND GETTING BETTER, PROBE REVEALS

Reforms Partly Effectuated
Miss Forbes Finds.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.
(First of a series of articles.)
"Reform for Ellis Island." It is the slogan which Robert E. Tod gave me yesterday when he was named as commissioner of immigration at the port of New York. "Reform for Ellis Island" is the commissioner's pledge. It is a pledge, but not nearly so much as a year ago.

Commissioner Tod took charge of the island ten days after Ted Tamm's investigation of conditions in the average on route to the United States at the port of New York. Commissioner Tod's charges were not with Ted Tamm's charges, but with the new commissioner, already dedicated to a program of sane, efficient functioning of the immigration service. His general plans for the island were outlined in a circular letter, which were followed by a correction suggested by the investigation.

What He Is Doing.
The new commissioner has brought out, or is bringing about, a new interpretation of the immigration rules and regulations, dismissed incompetent officials, higher pay for employes, betterment of personal conditions of the immigrants, leniency in the cases of prosecution of offenders.

He is trying to make the Status of the island a gold mine, a place where a swindler can get a fortune, but it is not a place where a swindler can get a fortune. He has not made the port a place where a swindler can get a fortune. He has not made the port a place where a swindler can get a fortune. He has not made the port a place where a swindler can get a fortune.

View of the Realist.
The realistic gentleman, standing beneath the folds of the American flag waving over the squalor, filth, the confusion of the great room, shouts, "Another bunch of foreigners."

The jeweled and ungrammatical visitor points a manicured finger at the patrician derision at "the foreigners."

He who has spent weeks on the "island" who has sympathized with them and has been irritated by them, knows that the good immigrants and the bad are not so different. He knows that the good immigrants and the bad are not so different. He knows that the good immigrants and the bad are not so different.

But there are more than 100,000 immigrants a year. They are neither, as sometimes both, a depraved mass of the deplorable of Europe. They are neither, as sometimes both, a depraved mass of the deplorable of Europe.

ELLIS ISLAND GETTING BETTER, PROBE REVEALS

Partly Effected,

GENE VIEVE FORBES.
(Part of a series of articles.)
Return for Ellis Island. It is the island which Robert E. Todd gave a name yesterday when he was indicated as commissioner of immigration part of New York.
Return for Ellis Island. It is still commissioner's pledge. It is still not nearly so much as it was a year ago.
Commissioner Todd took charge of the island ten days after the Tain-ment investigation of conditions in the cargoes on routes to the United States, and at the port of New York.
With the Tainment's charges of most abuses, came the new commissioner, already dedicated to a program of mass, efficient functioning of the island. His general plans for a return to Ellis Island were focused on the correction suggested by the investigation.

What He Is Doing.
The new commissioner has brought out, by bringing about, a more afternoon interpretation of the immigration rules and regulations, dismissal of competent officials, higher pay for employees, betterment of personal conditions of the immigrants, leniency in criminal cases and prosecution of offenses.
He is trying to make the Status of every man's a gold brick bully with a flicking palm of a swindler and whip of a subordinate official.
He has not made the port a place in him, but its shadows are not so as formerly. The "island" is unlike in the impressions it gives. "It is more like hell than with yesterday," says John Sabo of Caechoma who has come to New York for. But Rochina Martine from Italy, on her way to Bethlehem, Pa., declares, "I didn't see any strong. Nobody struck me. No talked rough to me. I had enough and a good place to sleep."
The sentimental lady, standing on the balcony overlooking the sea where the pageant of humanity, races, creeds and jobs pass, murmurs, "Aren't they so quaint."

View of the Realist.
A realistic gentleman standing beneath the folds of the American waving over the equator, the city, the confusion of the group about, "Another bunch of bejeweled and ungrammatical visitors" points a manicured finger at the patrician derision at "them foreigners."
The observer who has spent several weeks on the "island" who has the good immigrants and the bad, has sympathized with them and is irritated by them, knows that immigrant aliens are neither a fantasy of peasants and trouble-makers, nor a depraved mass of the dregs of Europe. They are neither, and times both.
The island is no hotel with running water in every room. The detained immigrant still sleeps in a dormitory

there were last year.
But there are more blankets than last year.

GRANDCHILDREN OF SIMPSON WILL SHARE IN RICHES

Robert, Charles and Genevieve Simpson, grandchildren of Robert Simpson, late millionaire coal and ice dealer of Evansville, were yesterday assured of participation in his $1,000,000 estate, as a result of the state Supreme court affirming admission of his will to probate by Circuit Judge Frank Johnston, Jr.
The trio are children of the late Robert Simpson, eldest son of the coal dealer, and live with their mother, Mrs.
Jennie Simpson, in an humble cottage at 913 Grove street, Evanston.
Simpson's will, bequeathing one-half of his estate to his grandchildren, was refused probate by Probate Judge Henry Horner, after five children had attacked the validity of the instrument on the ground of mental incompetence of the millionaire.

Testifying before Judge Horner in behalf of his children, the younger Simpson charged that by keeping him continuously stupefied with liquor his brother and four sisters had been able to keep him in ignorance of the provisions of his father's will.
Relatives who contested the will are Mrs. May Ellen Simpson Anderson of Lakewood, an adopted daughter, Mrs.
Anderson, 735 South Boulevard, Evanston; Mrs. Florence Puhman, 623 Washington avenue, Wilmette; Mrs. Margaret Dale Leffingwell, 1509 Sherman avenue, Evanston, and the late Charles George Simpson of Waukegan.

WAR HEROES OF FOREIGN LANDS ARE FETED HERE

For the ten hours they were here yesterday, Chicago was host to forty delegates to the recent Interallied Veterans' convention which was held in New Orleans in conjunction with the American Legion convention. The forty were real heroes of the great war and each of them bore some mark of battle.

A breakfast was given the veterans at the Union League club. They had lunch at the Edgewater Beach hotel and after touring the city they departed late yesterday afternoon for New York. The official hosts were Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Col. H. B.
Hackett, Commander Charles W.
Schick, state commander of the American Legion, Maj. Reed Landis, and a host of other Chicago veterans.

RENT COLLECTOR ADMITS FAKING $800 ROBBERY

Carl Walter Guth, 24 years old, of 1140 Vincennes avenue, a rent collector for the real estate firm of Draper & Kramer, 24 North Dearborn street, last night confessed to the police that the robbery which he had reported on Oct.
15, had been a fabrication, and that he had pocketed the $800 supposed to have been taken from him.
He was arrested when Chief of Detectives Hughes remembered that Guth had been robbed in the same house, 3612 South Michigan avenue, about six months ago, and lost $2,500.
Guth admitted that the last holdup was a pretence to cover up a $170 shortage in his accounts.

GOLD HOARDING, TARIFF, SHIPS ALL HIT BY PAISH

New York, Oct. 24.—[Special.]—Sir George Paish, noted British economist who came to this country to be one of the principal speakers at the annual convention of the American Manufacturers' Export association, which opens tomorrow, declared today that the entire world was living from hand to mouth.

He said the total volume of production was much below what it was during the war and surplus stocks of manufactured stuff exhausted. However, he said he considered conditions much better than at any time since the big slump which culminated in 1921.

Sir George laid stress on observations he said he had made since arriving here of an apparent plan of the administration to "hide the gold which has been sent here from Europe in the treasury vaults."

Talks of Hoarded Gold.

"A great quantity of gold has been sent here from England," he said. "Through the channels of Great Britain alone you have received something like $300,000,000 in gold. In addition to the $50,000,000 Great Britain paid in interest recently. From what I can observe that gold has not been put into the federal reserve banks, but has been going into the treasury, probably to prevent an inflation of your gold reserve and supply. This tends to stifle world trade."

"Were this money at work you would have easy money in this country. You would have better trade conditions and lower prices that would create a condition that would enable British goods to flow over the tariff barrier. The entire world is suffering from lack of buying power, together with the lack of credit. If nations like America refuse to buy, they only add to the misfortune caused by the war."

Declares Tariff Too High.

"Taking down the tariff barriers and other trade restrictions would be the first steps necessary to a restoration of foreign exchange. It is to urge that these trade barriers be lowered and that world commerce be restored to normal that I have come to this country."

"I have nothing but unstinted praise for your shipbuilding program in the war, as without these ships we might have starved in England, but I would suggest to this country that they now regard these ships as a war product and sell them for whatever they will bring."

"Your immigration policy is a great misfortune. It is stopping the normal functions of labor. It seems to be in line with all the nations of the world who are apparently doing all they can to stifle the trade of the world. With free immigration your country would increase production and thereby better the country as a producer and as a market for Europe."

Sir George also announced that he would be a candidate for parliament in the approaching general election from the central division of Glasgow as a Free Liberal, opposing Andrew Bonar Law, the new premier.

PRINCE BUELOW CALLS MONARCHY DEAD IN GERMANY

Ex-Chancellor Sees No Red Peril.

By SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.
BERLIN, Oct. 24.—Prince von Buelow, who resigned in 1909 as chancellor of Germany after directing the destiny of central Europe for nine years under former Kaiser Wilhelm, gave his first interview in seven years today. The prince believes Germany is thoroughly republican.

"There is no chance for monarchy in this country," he said. "The republican majority is stronger than the nationalists."

Prince von Buelow is one of the few politicians whom revolutions and time have not left scarred and in whom a considerable part of the world still trusts.

"I am working on a book of historical and political importance," said the prince. "It is a biography of my father, the secretary of state who assisted Prince Bismarck when he founded the German empire. I will not publish it before my death because many mentioned are still alive. To publish it now would mean political strife, and I do not want to return to the political arena."

This indicates clearly that the prince's book will contradict the memoirs of former Kaiser Wilhelm and others.

Speaking of present conditions in Germany, the prince reiterated his belief in the strength of republicanism.

"The German press is exaggerating the importance of the inner political strife, causing useless excitement among the population," he said.

"Economic suffering may lead to local riots, but from all I know of the German people I can say that they are too fond of quiet and order to allow bolshevism to sway the country. I remember receiving threats and warning of plots. This is unavoidable in the life of a politician."

"What does your highest think of the Kaiser's wedding?"

"The Kaiser is a quiet man, consequently the wedding is just a private levee this could be avoided."

NAPLES, Oct. 24.—[By Assoc Press.]—The challenge of the Fascist party that it would rule the country legally or illegally, through parliament or through force, has been met today by the resignation of the cabinet. The reform of the electoral law, general elections, said Deputy Mussolini, leader of the Fascists, address today in the first session of the annual convention of the organization. Deputy Mussolini said that he already had been asked what conditions Fascism demanded in order to participate in the government.

What Fascism Demands.

The speaker further stated that he would not enter the cabinet unless he was substituted by a super democratic minister of aviation for his post.

Mussolini Demands Chief Posts in Government.

ROME, Oct. 24.—[By Associated Press.]—The challenge of the Italian Fascist party that it would rule the country legally or illegally, that it would seize the government either through parliament or through insurrection, has been satisfied by the prompt action of the cabinet.

The cabinet of the king, after the election of the Fascist party, said Deputy Benito Mussolini, leader of the Fascist party, in his address today in the first session of the national convention of the organization.

Deputy Mussolini said that he had already been asked what conditions the Fascist demanded in order to accept participation in the government.

What Fascist Demands.
"I demanded the portfolios of foreign affairs, war, navy, labor and public works," he said.

The speaker further stated that he would not enter the cabinet himself. He demanded, he said, the post of minister of aviation for his party.

The government had offered the party the posts of ministers without portfolio, the Fascist leader asserted. Several posts such as under secretary of state were tendered, but he indignantly refused them, he stated.

A year ago the militant leader said that he declined to enter the cabinet, but today he said:

"Italian unity has been strongly compromised by the house of Savoy," referring to the ruling house.

Must Have a "Super Democracy."
He was loudly applauded with cries of "Viva King Emanuel." Deputy Mussolini then said:

"Democracy was useful during the nineteenth century, but now, it must be substituted by a super democracy, which must create a new political structure in closer harmony with national needs."

Deputy Mussolini said that it was the desire of the Fascist to pacify the country. He said that no peace was possible unless the adversaries accept the conditions of the Fascist.

More than 5,000 persons failed to gain admittance to the San Carlo opera house for the speech of Mussolini. He announced the party program as regeneration of the country, restoration of southern Italy, restoration of Italian prestige, and the solution of the financial and economic problems.

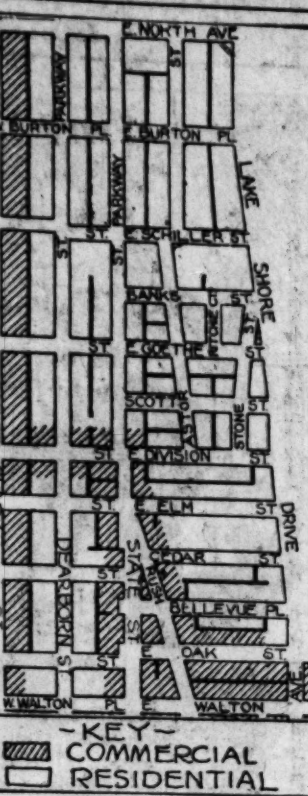

His utterances were welcomed by frantic applause of the delegates.

30,000 at Meeting.
"An army corps of Fascist on war," numbering 40,000, and civil Fascist delegates numbering 50,000, gathered here today for the annual convention of Fascist, the Italian militant organization opposed to socialism and communism.

A large number of the visitors were urged to camp in the open air because of the lack of accommodations.

The military branch wears a uniform consisting of a black shirt, breeches and a service cap. The delegates swarmed the thoroughfares staging and occasionally raising the direction of Gen. Tilly. THE GOLD COAST

Above is the first tentative zoning map of the gold coast, made by the Chicago zoning commission. Apparently the residents of the most exclusive section of the north side are in favor of admitting hotels and apartments, a questionnaire showing 85 per cent of the property owners, to date, opposing restricting the gold coast to one family residences.

One Resident's View.
One of Chicago's well known citizens, a resident of the Lake Shore drive, writes his opinion on gold coast zoning as follows:

"In view of the fact that office buildings and apartment houses have been permitted to encroach so much upon what is known as the Lake Shore drive, which has reduced the residential territory to about five blocks on the drive, it would be unwise for the zoning commission to limit or restrict the erection of buildings to one family houses."

Owners' Wishes Respected.
In the questionnaire President B. M. Winston states: "We have a reasonable assurance that the commission will respect the wishes of owners as expressed by a majority of replies."

H. T. Frost, chief of staff of the zoning commission, has made public the first map of the gold coast as it has been tentatively zoned, which shows the McCormick residence on the drive, between Oak and Bellevue, as a buffer against business but which opens the entire gold coast to apartments and hotels of various heights.

The district covered by the questionnaire extends in an irregular line from Scott street and the drive west to Stock, north to Goethe, west to Astor, north to Schiller, west to State, and north to North avenue.

When Joseph Kemplners, 14 years old, 5151 Grace street, picked up a cartridge from the car tracks a year ago and gave it to his companion, Frank Henry, 1189 Berens avenue, he little thought that within a year both he and his brother would be dead, one of them killed by the same cartridge.

The first fatality occurred when Joseph was drowned a month later while spending his vacation at the Henry cottage on the northwestern lake. The second happened last Friday. Harold Kemplners, Joseph's brother, 10 years old, visited Frank at the latter's home and Frank showed him a broken revolver in which he had placed the cartridge Joseph had given him twelve months before. Suddenly there was a shot and Harold fell to the ground, fatally wounded in the abdomen.

FREED OF GIRL'S CHARGE.
Arrested on charges made by Miss Rebecca Rosenberg, 19 years old, 1360 South Fairfield avenue, Joseph Mandel, 57 years old, a clothing manufacturer of 1213-1219 West Van Buren street, was discharged yesterday.

'GOLD COASTERS' FAVOR OPENING DRIVE TO HOTELS

BY AL CHASE.

Gold coasters apparently have settled the question of admitting apartments and hotels to their exclusive district, when Chicago's zoning program is completed, by voting emphatically in favor of letting down the bars, both on the Lake Shore drive and on other streets nearby. This was learned last night, when the results of a questionnaire sent out by the North Central improvement association, were made public.

To date 85 per cent of the replies are strongly opposed to keeping the gold coast restricted to one family residences. The results of the vote will be forwarded at once to the Chicago zoning commission for use in determining final action in zoning the gold coast.

One of Chicago's well known citizens, a resident of the Lake Shore drive, writes his opinion on gold coast zoning as follows:

"In view of the fact that office buildings and apartment houses have been permitted to encroach so much upon what is known as the Lake Shore drive, which has reduced the residential territory to about five blocks on the drive, it would be unwise for the zoning commission to limit or restrict the erection of buildings to one family houses."

SHE BLAMES HOT TEMPER ON TOO MUCH SULPHUR

Humanology, the science of character and physical analysis by physical appearance, is hardly likely to be a popular subject for home study and demonstration. For instance, a quick temper, according to Dr. Elizabeth Young, who explained the science to the Woman's City Club of Chicago last night, is the result of too much sulphur in the body. Her suggestion that upon an outburst, the family should turn to the afflicted one with the remark, "Ah, too much sulphur; what you want is a good sharp walk; here's your hat," is hardly likely to prove soothing, though it may aid in the throwing off of the sulphur, her audience opined.

However, Dr. Young spoke in a convincing way of advantages of her doctrine, explaining the chemical constituents of the body and how each element affected it. Afterwards she analyzed the characters of several of the members of the club, from their outward appearance, and was remarkably successful, judging from the applause.

FIVE HELD FOR STEALING FOOD.
Charged with conspiracy to steal groceries, five employees of Tobetta & Garand's, "Stop and Shop" store, were yesterday held in the grand jury.

Foot Suffering Is Not a Joke

THERE IS NO GROUP OF SUFFERERS that bears up so well, despite daily and hourly torture, as that great limping and halting mass of humanity that patiently, and without much complaining, goes about the daily tasks with feet that are slowly and surely going down with increasing pain.

JOKE ARE MADE ABOUT FOOT SUFFERING, but surely by those who are free from such affliction, for falling feet, that hold so much pain and anguish in store for the unfortunate victim as the conditions get worse, might better be allowed the sympathy and consideration of falling sight. There is far more incapacitation from falling feet than from falling eyes.

UNRECOVERABLE FORTUNES HAVE been spent by foot sufferers for unguaranteed advice and devices that failed utterly to relieve or correct, and in many cases made or permitted the suffering to get worse. Knowing all this, and knowing the wonderful guaranteed benefits to be derived from NATURE-TREADS, the exclusive NATURE-TREAD SHOPS were opened months ago to guarantee comfort and correction to foot sufferers. More than ten thousand have now found the foot happiness they long sought.

A 10-DAY TRIAL-MONEY-BACK-GUARANTEE is the basis upon which NATURE-TREADS have been tried so freely. It has been hard for many to believe that such a guarantee is worth anything, after ten days, just to find out if they could really get it back. When the $2.75 was handed to them with our manager's remark, "We thank you for the trial, here is your $2.75," these people were dumfounded, here is your $2.75, these people were dumfounded, usually saying, "I came to see if you lived up to your guarantee, but I wouldn't sell my NATURE-TREADS for any money; they have worked miracles for my feet." Thousands now wear NATURE-TREADS because their friends recommended NATURE-TREADS so highly.

YOUR WEAKENING, PAINFUL FEET ARE surely worthy of a NATURE-TREAD trial. There is everything to gain and nothing to lose.

S. TREATMENT RUSSIA ROILS MOSCOW CHIEFS

BY GEORGE SELDES.

Copyright 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.
MOSCOW, Oct. 24.—The hitch in American relations according to Ambassador Houghton, is due to the Washington Department treating Russia as an inferior country, "like a British colony," he said. "Russia is not a colony of a big capitalistic government, and our government could not accept it. We asked the Russian government to take a new suggestion for a defining of understanding, which will not put Russia on an inferior level. We, ourselves, offer two possibilities:—
"First—That each government send an official to the other in preparation for trading. This mission, however, not to be empowered for political investigation or control.
"Second—That a group of men from America in a private capacity enter Russia. This group to begin commercial relations.
"Russia is always ready to welcome American business men either individually or in groups. I believe that with the idea of equality in mind a start can be made. This is how I left the matter in the hands of Ambassador Houghton, and I still await word from the American government concerning the new suggestions for resumption of relations."
In the throne room of the former czar's palace near the Kremlin today I was present at the fourth convention of the all-Russian central executive committee. M. Kalinin, president of the republic, was chairman.
Russia's governing body discussed the new code of labor laws and land laws necessitated by the new economic policy which permits private ownership and trade.
View of Meeting.
A huge painting of former Czar Alexander addressing the peasants greeted the delegates as they entered. Under the painting were these words: "I tell you, go home and obey your land owners."
Where the throne stood under a huge golden eye, such as appears in certain Masonic, Mormon, and Michael Angelo designs, is now a platform and other executives sat, some in peasant clothes and some in blue military uniform. Between the platform and the throne curved a sounding board, built so that the magnificent throne looks like it has been shoved into discard.

REDS ENTERING VLADIVOSTOK, IS ONE JAP REPORT

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

Copyright 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
GENSAN, Corea, Oct. 24.—Five hundred and twenty refugees arrived here today from Vladivostok, including Gen. Markuloff, former president of the White government there. Most of these people are going to Harbin, Manchuria, where they hope to join others now forming another White army.
Gen. Markuloff is sending his family to Shanghai, but he is going to Manchuria. He denies that he has any intentions of taking part in fighting against the Reds.
Sixty White soldiers arriving here today were not permitted to land. Others, however, after being disarmed, were permitted to come to shore. Groups of the latter left for Manchuria yesterday and today under Japanese escort.
The refugees left Vladivostok on Oct. 20, when the Japanese were holding the Red sixteen vessels (twelve miles) out of the city until Oct. 26.
When the refugees departed a general strike gripped Vladivostok, with outlaws rampant. Among others the French consulate was pillaged.
Wireless dispatches received by the Japanese say that the Reds have since entered the city and the population is producing Red flags which they had kept hidden awaiting their arrival. The city throughout has been Red in sympathy, but the feelings of the people were kept in suppression through the Whites' occupation.
Other reports say that a local defense society is guarding the ammunition stores pending Red occupancy, the latter being asked not to attack the city owing to danger of explosions.

ALLIES ASK TURK TO HALT DEATH OF GREEK SOLDIERS

Ottoman Subjects Face Treason Trials.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 24.—[By the Associated Press.]—All the Greek soldiers who were formerly Turkish subjects are facing trial for high treason, according to advices received today by American relief agencies. Well informed circles fear these Greeks will be executed in groups of a hundred or more, and the allied mission dispatched a note, signed by France, England, and Italy, asking clemency. The note follows:

"Acting on instructions from their governments, the allied high commissioners bring to the notice of the Ankara government that they have learned that Greek soldiers who are Ottoman subjects have been concentrated in special barracks with the object of trying them for high treason and sentencing them to death."

"While the high commissioners do not desire to interfere with Turkish internal affairs, nevertheless from a purely humanitarian viewpoint they ask that generously be shown these prisoners and they draw to your attention that such single or mass executions would cause horror in the whole civilized world. Generous amnesty would not be regarded as a sign of weakness, but, on the contrary, as proof of the inauguration of a new policy tending to wipe out the unhappy past and bring a new era of peace."

Turks Hold Big Celebration.
The foreign quarter and non-Moslem districts of Constantinople spent a restless night owing to the boisterous celebrations in Istanbul, the Turkish section, in connection with the public reception of Rafet Pasha, military governor of eastern Thrace, and his gendarmes.

Heavy explosions of fireworks were audible in all sections, giving rise to the fear that the demonstration might develop at any moment into a more serious affair. The allied police were largely reinforced and the night passed without any serious incident.

The allied high commissioners and Admiral Bristol discussed the evacuation of eastern Thrace and the refugee problem at a two hour meeting yesterday. They dealt largely with plans for evacuation through the Black sea and Marmora ports of some 70,000 persons.

"Cannot Stop Exodus."
Col. Treloar, representing the league of nations, who has just returned from Rodosto, reported that the situation was seriously affected by the lack of shipping. He added:

"The exodus has assumed enormous proportions. No allied proclamations or exhortations can induce the refugees to remain, even for a short time. They do not trust the Turkish gendarmes or the allied protection, and are taking with them as much of their crops as possible. The remainder generally has been burned."

WIFE LETS HIM BE FINED.

KEMAL WARNS BRITISH

Mustapha Kemal is reported to be determined to include all of Kurdistan within the limits of Turkey. Southern Kurdistan contains the valuable Mosul oil fields, which the British now hold. The land is unquestionably Turkish, but the British are in possession. Observers see the situation full of dynamite.

BRIDE OF MONTH ENDS LIFE "TO ESCAPE BEATING"

Mrs. Evelyn Chambers, 19 years old, a bride of one month, was found dead yesterday in the kitchenette of her home, 116 South Campbell avenue, by her husband, George. She had committed suicide.

A tube from the gas stove was found disconnected by the police, who were called by the grief-stricken husband. A note addressed to "George" was found lying close to the body. It read: "I have chosen the gas rather than submit to your beatings."

According to adjacent roomers in the building, the couple were constantly quarreling. The husband denied this, however, and produced a note stating that she was going to run away and that her friends were "talking" too much.

CUT IN PHONE RATE HINTED AT UTILITY HEARING

Decrease in wages paid to labor, due largely to the Landis building trades award, caused reproduction costs of the Illinois Bell Telephone company to drop approximately $10,000,000 between July 31 and Jan. 31, 1921, an expert for the company testified as the Illinois commerce commission yesterday resumed phone rate hearings that have been in progress intermittently for more than a year.

"Reproduction costs" represent the amount that would be involved in replacing the entire equipment of the company. According to the figures submitted this cost on Dec. 31, 1921, would have been $99,526,276.

IRISH ASSURED BY BONAR LAW OF O. K. FOR TREATY

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Irish treaty is safe in the hands of the new British government. Any lingering doubt as to this fact was removed today when President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State, Kevin O'Higgins, home secretary, and Hugh Kennedy, legal adviser, conferred with Prime Minister Bonar Law. It is stated that assurances were exchanged that the treaty would be approved by the British and carried out in good faith by the Irish.

The Irish ministers returned to Ireland tonight and tomorrow it is expected that the Dail Eireann will give the constitution a full reading and act on its final passage. It will then become the business of the British parliament to approve it.

Conditions are improving rapidly in Ireland. The republicans rebels no longer have any organization, but have broken into bands and are roaming over the country. These must discontinue with the coming of cold weather if their members are not then all behind bars or barbed wire.

It is utterly untrue that there have been any negotiations with the republicans for a settlement. There is no body to negotiate with who can speak for all the rebels or even a considerable number, and there has been no change in the Free State policy of rounding up and imprisoning all who fail to surrender or turn in their arms.

Admit $10,000 Thefts to Entertain Their Girls
A desire to entertain their girl friends in lavish fashion caused four youths to be held following confessions of participation in more than twenty-five robberies, whose loot exceeds $10,000. The prisoners, Alexander Ostrowsky, 5533 West 15th street; Frank Zelinsky, 748 West 18th street; William Rudinsky, 1700 South LaSalle street, and Henry Santom, 1701 South Peoria street, were arrested after a revolver battle on Oct. 14.

VOTERS TO WEIGH GAIN AND LOSS IN NEW COURT PLAN

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
ARTICLE NO. 7.

Remodeling of the judiciary system, from Supreme court to justice shop, is held by many authorities to be perhaps the strongest talking point for the proposed new constitution which goes to the voters Dec. 12. Radical changes are contemplated to rid the courts of a cumbersome machinery which worked well in the early period of the state but fails to meet the complex requirements of the present age.

What the ordinary voter is weighing in his mind is whether the judicial reforms, which are extensive, more than balance such defects as a rigid restriction upon Cook county's membership in the Supreme court, and whether it's a fair trade for a citizen swap his theoretical rights of full and equal suffrage for a better system of courts.

Some of the Changes.

Here's a summary of some of the more important changes:

1. The Supreme court is to be given exclusive power to adopt rules of pleading, practice, and procedure for all courts. This is now left to the legislature. Any rule may be set aside by the courts.

2. The Supreme justices get power to appoint judges of the Appellate courts and to regulate their jurisdiction.

3. The Supreme court is empowered to appoint Circuit and County judges to fill vacancies caused by the selection of these judges as Appellate judges.

4. Cook county courts are to be consolidated into a single court. This is to have a criminal and a civil division, each with a chief justice appointed by the Supreme court.

5. The original jurisdiction of the Supreme court is notably extended so as to include cases of quo warranto, prohibition, and "other cases involving questions of great public importance."

Large Grant of Power.

This last mentioned point in "quote" is a large grant of new original jurisdiction. It would enable the Supreme court to pass upon the constitutionality of statutes with greater rapidity than now.

To the layman it at once raises the question of whether this is a further encroachment of the judiciary upon the legislative branch of the government. For years loud cries have been raised from time to time against "law-making by the courts." Publicists have loudly declared that the bench by knocking laws out has been usurping the powers of the legislature and that the tendency has been to knock into a cocked hat the constitutional theory of three coordinate branches of government.

Protests in Illinois.

In Illinois from time to time shouts have been raised against invasion by the Supreme court upon the powers of the lawmaking branch. For example, the reformers made the welkin ring some fifteen years ago when the Supreme justices at Springfield bowed over primary law after primary law as fast as the assembly could set them up, until finally one was passed that struck.

The lawyers say the new proposal is not any "encroachment" of the judiciary upon the legislative branch. They point out it gives the Supreme bench no knockout power which it does not have now, but it expedites things, making it a one-round go instead of a ten round bout.

How It Works Out.

For instance, the validity of a statute might be regarded by the court as a "question of great public importance." A test case, regardless of the nature of the statute, could be taken right up to the final tribunal without waiting for a parade through the lower courts. At present the Supreme court has "original jurisdiction in cases relating to the revenue, in mandamus and habeas corpus, and appellate jurisdiction in all other cases."

One natural question in the mind of the laymen is whether the effect of all this would not be to establish the Supreme court as a sort of board of censors upon the legislature. Leading lawyers say much is to be said in favor of a system by which the validity of a law may be determined quickly and before injury may have resulted from its operation if it is unconstitutional. (Other features of the judiciary will be discussed in the next article.)

CHURCH SOCIETY HEARS TALKS ON NEW BASIC LAW

Before the commission on state constitution of the Chicago Church Federation at the Morrison hotel yesterday State Senator Henry M. Dunlap of Savoy and Lee Mitchell of Aurora, delegates to the constitutional convention, led a round table discussion. Mr. Dunlap favored the proposed new basic law on the ground that, while not perfect, it is better than the present constitution. Mr. Mitchell, opposing the new draft, criticized the income tax and appropriation features.

HELD IN SHOOTING CHARGE.

George Ellopoulos, 45 years old, 1234 MacArthur place, was arrested yesterday on a charge of shooting Peter Georgopoulos, 50 years old, 714 Blue Island avenue.

MAYOR HINTS HE WILL MAKE FIGHT ON CONSTITUTION

On leaving for a three day duck hunting trip into southern Illinois last night, Mayor Thompson indicated that, following the November election, the city hall forces will open a strenuous campaign to defeat the new state constitution which comes to vote on Dec. 12. His political advisers are animated by two motives in their decision to oppose the constitution, it is said.

One is their belief that it will be beaten at the polls and that they will then be able to claim a victory for the mayor. The second is the belief that the skirmish will be just the practice which the machine needs to put it in trim for the battle next spring to land Big Bill in the mayor's chair for another term.

"It looks bad for the constitution," the mayor said. "We have several lawyers briefing it in the corporation counsel's office and I will have a more definite announcement to make when I have looked over their work."

RINGER SPRINGS MR. V. L. REPORT ON HIS OPPONENT

Carr Branded 'Chore Boy'
When an Alderman.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Things began to warm up yesterday at the Republican end of the county campaign.

Following the keynote meeting at the auditorium, which the leaders said fulfilled its purpose of starting the two sides speed up program with plenty of campaign headquarters began to loosen up along the line. The general order to candidates and speakers were to forget their previous instructions to hold back and to assume the offensive everywhere.

The first result of this was an attack by Charles Ringer, nominee for county treasurer, upon Patrick J. Carr, the Democrat running to succeed himself in that office. It was based on the Municipal Voters' league's finding concerning Carr's record in the city council.

"Can Leopards Change Spots?" asked Ringer at several ward meetings which he addressed last evening; and then he read from the report of the V. L. when Carr was an alderman candidate for reelection from the Fifth Ward. The verdict he gave was as follows:

"Patrick J. Carr—Finishing first with poor record; only a chore boy, but the best chore boy the ward ever had," says his inseparable colleague, Martin. Claims to have secured favors (jobs, special orders, passes, etc.) for 5,000 constituents in two years in building committee close second to Powers, having actively pushed forty-six violations out of 225 recorded; on seventeen committee roll calls on building violations he voted for four; voted against investigation of the 'mud police' against civil service appropriation to investigate the police department, and against police reorganization ordinance, voted Jan. 27, 1912, against nonpartisan election of aldermen."

Calls Him Graduate of That School. "My Democratic opponent," continued Ringer, "is a graduate of that school of politics. His associates in his ward indicate his alliance. Do you want a continuance of such government? If he's elected that's what you will get—an administration based on jobs and favors."

Ringer emphasized the contrast between the present prosperity of the country and its condition eighteen months ago when the Wilsonian era ended.

Dr. Nance on Firing Line. Headquarters had more visitors than usual and their talk was spirited. "We've got the hardest fighting organization in the county in the new

ROBBED OF RINGS

MISS NORMA KAY.

Forcing a chloroform soaked handkerchief to the nose of Miss Norma Kay, 20 years old, 1327 North Hoyne avenue, while she was alone in her father's store, the Crystal Palace of Music, 2445 West North avenue, at noon yesterday, a man snatched two rings, valued at $1,800, from the girl's hand and fled. Miss Kay and Edward Galligan, 4628 Evans avenue, a laundry wagon driver, followed the thief in the wagon for several blocks, but he escaped by boarding a street car. The thief is described as being about 30 years old, 5 feet, 8 inches tall, smooth shaven, and shabbily dressed.

Fifth ward, said Dr. Willis O. Nance, sanitary trustee. "We have a lot of independent voters in our ward and they don't want men like 'Bull' Dailley, 'Pat' Carr, Rosenberg, Whalen, and that crowd running the public's business instead of men like Peter Hoffman, Charles Ringer, James Lawley, and Matt Mueller, and others with records for efficiency in public service."

DEMOCRATS GET A LAUGH OUT OF SLOGAN LESSON

Catechism Hits at Mayor and Faherty Experts.

Light heartedness was manifest around the Democratic county headquarters yesterday, particularly in that section devoted to bulletin board notices. The smiles came from the reading of a typewritten sheet labeled "A Lesson in Civil Government."

The text displayed was received in response to the appeal of Chairman Martin J. O'Brien for anti-city hall material to use on some new slides being ordered for the show window stereopticons which the city hall endeavored to close up.

As it was submitted the contribution was too long for use on the slides, but O'Brien announced that it will be distributed to the voters in some form before the election two weeks from yesterday.

Here's the Lesson. The "Lesson," in catechism form, was as follows: "Q—How is the government of Chicago run? A—Rotten. "Q—Who runs it? A—Experts. "Q—What is an expert. A—A friend of Mike Faherty's. "Q—Who is Fred Lundin? A—A former resident of Chicago. "Q—Why did he leave Chicago. A—The people are too inept. "Q—Did he take the city hall with him? A—It was too heavy. "Q—Who is Albert H. Seaverlinghaus? A—A laundryman sometimes known as the clean up man. "Q—Where is the board of education? A—In jail. "Q—What is the motto of Chicago. A—"I. Bull."

Igoe Renews Hoffman Attack. Michael L. Igoe, former legislative minority leader, continued and extended his attacks on Coroner Hoffman's candidacy for the sheriff's office. His new material was a detailed recital of the charges made against Hoffman's administration in connection with the employment of coroner's physicians by insurance companies. He said that Hoffman's promise to cleanse the office of the offenders never had been carried out.

"For example," he said, "one of his acts was to discharge Dr. Reinhardt, who admitted he had accepted fees from insurance companies in connection with deaths that were coroner's cases. But the records of the county controller's office disclose that Reinhardt was restored to duty three months and ten days after he was discharged from his job and he is on the coroner's staff today."

Igoe then recited a number of specific cases in which the testimony of Hoffman's aide materially helped insurance companies.

Cernak, candidate for president of the county board, told several audiences that the small home owner will receive better treatment than they now do if Michael K. Sheridan is elected to the board of assessors and Ald. J. S. Schwartz elected is a member of the board of review.

The World's Wonder Theatre

celebrates its first anniversary

One year ago this week, the Chicago Theatre opened its doors to the public. With its opening, the City of Chicago was presented with the most beautiful theatre in the world.

A glance backward reveals twelve fruitful months—twelve months of history-making—twelve months of unprecedented success, during which nearly six million people entered this theatre and paid the lowest price ever charged for the highest and most unique form of entertainment ever created.

The theatre became the most important point of interest in Chicago. It became the first destination of the visiting sightseer. And more strangers have visited the Chicago Theatre than all the other wonders of the city combined.

As it exists, as it is operated, the Chicago Theatre represents the policies of Balaban & Katz. It is their idea of the kind of theatre Chicago should have.

Before the Chicago Theatre was opened, Balaban & Katz promised you it would be the most beautiful theatre in the world. They have kept that promise to the letter. They promised they would show the choice of all the best motion-pictures produced. They have kept their word in its entirety. They promised you the best music, the best entertainment and the best service. They have kept that promise rigidly. They promised you surpassing comfort and contentment. You have had them both.

We are grateful to you for your confidence and your patronage. A perfected organization enables us to give you even better programs in the future than we have in the past. And we will!

"BLAME ME, NOT SAWYER," LEGION TOLD BY HARDING

President Approves of General's Work.

BY GRAYTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—(Special.)—President Harding is standing squarely behind Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, his personal physician, who functions also as chairman of the national hospitalization committee.

BRIG. GEN. C. E. SAWYER.

Notwithstanding the attacks upon Gen. Sawyer by the American Legion, the President has no intention of asking for the general's resignation as head of the hospitalization committee.

This was stated upon the highest authority at the White House today. Mr. Harding, it was stated, is entirely satisfied with Gen. Sawyer's record as chairman of the hospitalization committee and believes the criticisms of the American Legion are unjustified.

"Blame Me," Harding Says. Not only does the President regard Gen. Sawyer as free from blame but he personally assumes all responsibility for those acts for which the general has been so heartily condemned, it was stated. In the future, the President would prefer to have the criticisms leveled at himself instead of Gen. Sawyer.

Mr. Harding feels, according to White House advisers, that the demand for the ousting of Gen. Sawyer is founded in large part upon the failure of the federal government to locate the new disabled veterans' hospital for the middle west in or near Chicago, the home of Col. A. A. Sprague, chairman of the hospitalization committee of the American Legion.

Harding Favored Camp Custer. It was originally intended to locate this hospital at Chicago, but later it was decided to locate it at Camp Custer, Mich. President Harding himself was responsible for this change of plan. Virtually all of the soldiers' hospitals in the middle west were located in or near Chicago and the President took the position that other important middle western localities should be recognized.

Mr. Harding frequently consulted Gen. Sawyer and the hospitalization committee and insisted on a location other than Chicago, preferring Camp Custer partly because he thought Michigan should be recognized and partly because the hospital could avail itself of specialists at the Battle Creek sanitarium.

JAILED AT 81 IN LOVE SUIT, HE PONDER'S WOMAN

Edgeworth Vows He'll Never, Never Pay.

John F. Edgeworth, 81 years old, a neat fedora cocked on his head, sat in a cell in the county jail last night, observing the hue of his pearl spats, smoking a cigar, blowing smoke rings at his comrades of the calaboose, and humming a tune relative to the tenacity of womankind.

For Mr. Edgeworth is in jail because he has refused to pay for the broken heart of his lady fair.

When his wife died in 1917, Mr. Edgeworth, soon tiring of washing dishes and making beds and performing the many housewifely tasks about his home in Downers Grove, cast about for a housekeeper. Unfortunately, he says, his eye lit upon Miss Mary Ada Small, 52, and Miss Small took possession of the house.

What Edgeworth Says. Not satisfied with taking possession of the house, says Mr. Edgeworth, Miss Small attempted to take possession of him.

But, according to Miss Small, a romance blossomed during the four years that she was Mr. Edgeworth's housekeeper, culminating in his proposal of marriage, which was accepted. She also alleges that he obtained from her $16,000 for investment in his Texas oil lands, and that with the money he winged his way to California. She followed.

In 1920 she filed a suit for $166,000 in the Los Angeles courts, of which $16,000 was for the money she says she invested and the remainder for mending her broken heart. She secured a judgment for the amount of her investment and $5,000 on the breach of promise count.

Back to Downers Grove. Back to Downers Grove came the harassed Mr. Edgeworth, and back of him the pursuing Miss Small, who again instituted similar proceedings against him. He was arrested yesterday when she filed affidavits that he planned to leave the state to avoid payment of the judgment, and Judge

Foell remanded him to jail in default of $10,000 bond. She hasn't collected her judgment yet, however, and Mr. Edgeworth declares that she never will. Prompted by his youthful appearance and sartorial elegance, says Mr. Edgeworth, Miss Small has been hounding him to marry her. "I promised her I would," he admits, "if she would withdraw the suit she had filed against me. But she attempted to fool me by having it continued."

WIFE NO. 3 OF HOWARD CAPPER ASKS DIVORCE

Howard C. Capper, son of John S. Capper, president of Capper & Capper company, haberdashers, was yesterday sued for divorce by his third wife, Mrs. Louise Capper, whom he married on Sept. 29 last year.

In her bill, based on several alleged beatings, Mrs. Capper declares that Capper, although having an annual income exceeding $10,000, has refused to make provision for her support. A plea for substantial alimony is made on the ground "that unless she gets support she will soon be the object of charity of her friends."

WEEPS AT ST HOW SHE KISS GIRL SHE K

Murder Defendant at Testimon

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 24.—(Special.)—Mrs. Catherine Roster, who is charged with the murder of her husband, testified today in the most sensational development of the case.

"I did it—I must have," one witness testified she immediately after the shooting occurred in the office of a writing agency.

Dying Girl Killed by Michael J. Toner, a police officer, was shot in the chest by two officers, was badly wounded, and died. "Go, I don't think about me," she said. "I didn't mean to shoot me."

Thereupon Mrs. Roster kissed the hand of the witness. Mrs. Roster, who buried her face in her hand, wept.

Begged for Husband. Alfred Layton of Pittsburgh, a newspaper reporter, told on her hands and begged his husband. He said Mrs. Roster of finding a diary containing writings in Miss Beckett's handwriting.

Norman McLeod, also a witness, counted how the defendant Roster said: "Daddy, dear, I didn't do it." Roster, he said, then hand and pushed her away.

WEEPS AT STORY HOW SHE KISSED GIRL SHE KILLED

Murder Defendant Sobs at Testimony.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 24.—(Special).—The testimony as to Mrs. Catherine Rosier's motive for killing her husband, Oscar Rosier, and his young stenographer, was given today when the trial reached its most sensational development thus far. Mrs. Rosier, who is under indictment for the killing of both, is being tried first for the murder of Miss Mildred Geraldine Reckitt, the stenographer.

"I did it—I must have been crazy," she testified she had told him immediately after the shooting, which occurred in the office of Rosier's advertising agency.

Dying Girl Kissed by Slayer.

Michael J. Toner, a policeman, told of a scene in the hospital where the girl, Mildred, smiled forgivingly on Mrs. Rosier from her death bed. Toner related how the dying girl, supported by two officers, was brought to say something to incriminate her slayer.

"Go, I don't think she meant to shoot me," she said. "I know she didn't mean to shoot me."

Thereupon Mrs. Rosier knelt and kissed the hand of the girl, said the witness. Mrs. Rosier, shaking with sobs, buried her face in her hands as this testimony was given.

Begged for Husband's Life.

Alfred Layton of Pittsburgh, formerly a newspaper reporter, testified that Mrs. Rosier, mistaking him for a physician, fell on her knees, clasped her hands and begged him to save her husband. He said Mrs. Rosier had told of finding a diary containing romantic writings in Miss Beckett's desk and in her husband's handwriting.

Norman McLeod, also a reporter, recounted how the defendant knelt beside Rosier and cried:

"Daddy, dear, I didn't mean to do it," Rosier, he said, then lifted up his hand and pushed her away.

CLINE AND WIFE TELL HOW MOVIE ACTOR WAS SLAIN

Jury May Get the Case
This Morning.

New York, Oct. 24.—(Special).—The case of the three defendants who are on trial before Supreme Court Justice Parker in Hackensack, N. J., for the murder of "Haddock" Jack Bergen, moving picture actor, will probably go to the jury before noon tomorrow, according to counsel for the defense. That a verdict might be returned before night with the usual swiftness of "Jersey justice," became evident after judge and jury had listened to the stories of the three accused, George Cline, his brother-in-law, Charles Scullion, and Miss Alice Thornton, and to the testimony of Mrs. Mamie Cline, corroborating her husband, whose defense is based on self defense and justifiable homicide.

Mrs. Cline was the star witness of the day. While she was tearfully telling of her relations with Bergen, who was killed in a "duel" with Cline in the latter's home in Edgewater, N. J., on Aug. 25, last, her two children, one a golden haired girl of seven, were playing on a seat in the crowded courtroom.

Sobs Affect Men Jurors.

Mrs. Cline's story of her meeting with Bergen, in a hotel at Saranac Lake, was interrupted by her crying which appeared to affect the six men on the jury more than the six women. "I pleaded with Jack not to bother me when he came into my room in the St. Regis hotel, Saranac Lake, where my husband had taken me and the children, as well as Bergen, for he had some locating work to do there for a Fox film picture," said Mrs. Cline. "Bergen prevailed upon me to take some liquor."

The defense claims that Mrs. Cline was attacked by Bergen after she was pilled with liquor.

Cline Tells of Shooting.

When Cline was put on the stand he testified, among other things, that he had proposed the "duel" with Bergen, not because he feared of the actor's alleged attack upon Mrs. Cline, but because the actor had described Mrs. Cline as a "bum."

On direct examination, Cline described how he had learned of the Saranac Lake incident after months of solid suspicion, and how he had asked Bergen, whom he befriended, to come to the Cline home in Edgewater to explain certain "kissing parties." He maintained that Bergen was accidentally shot in a struggle for possession of the gun which he had given Bergen.

Says He Called Her a "Bum."

Cline testified that it was a remark of the actor, about to leave the house which infuriated him. He quoted Bergen as follows:

"George, you know all women are bad, and Mamie is a bum."

It was then that Cline invited Bergen to go up stairs where the shooting occurred, according to Cline's testimony.

Miss Thornton, like Mrs. Cline, wept throughout her testimony. She said that her friendship for Bergen ended when she learned that he was married.

DRIVE ON RAW ALCOHOL 'DUE BY DRY AGENTS

Following a conference yesterday in which United States District Attorney Clyne and Prohibition Directors Charles A. Gregory and L. G. Nutt participated, it was announced that a federal drive will be made on all forms of raw alcohol traffic in which any suggestion of irregularity appears.

Although the number of Chicago firms identified with alcohol deals recently has been reduced from 1,200 to 200, federal agents say that some of the remaining firms, who believe in broad interpretation of the liquor laws, are doing a greatly increased business.

LION ROARS SELF TO DEATH WHILE FLEEING FLIVVER

turer, and kept on his large estate at Grand Beach. "Mr. Chandler's got two dogs like this and they roam around quite a bit. I'll bet those foot-prints measure up to this dog."

Deputy Sheriff Morley's Alredale came up to the car, sniffing.

"Well, my dog makes tracks almost as big as those when he's running," said Morley, "and nobody has ever heard this lion roar. Mrs. Merritt Pinkney heard it whine, sort of like a baby, and Old Man Oast heard a wild cry in the woods, but nothing like a good healthy roar."

"Well, if this police dog ever growls that dog o' your'n will run around the corner of the house," Deputy Clark boasted.

Dogs Go Into a Clinch.

The police dog was pulled from the car. Immediately it and the Alredale were clinched in snarling combat. After much bawling with sticks and ropes, the dogs were separated and the Alredale took a flying leap for a final snap. The police dog took to the woods with tail lowered and had to be coaxed back.

"Well, he didn't run around the house, anyway," chuckled Morley, leading the victorious Alredale into the house.

The police dog was weighed and tipped the scales at 73 pounds. Not heavy enough for a lion, but possibly heavy enough for lion hunting, was the verdict.

Bob Goner and Roy Peters, two of the men who had seen the lion in a Lakeside vineyard, viewed the police dog and admitted that it might have been the animal they saw. Lee Hutchinson wasn't so sure. State Representative Herbert W. Gowdy charged all three had been drinking hard cider at the time, anyway. Even Mrs. Glosinger said it might have been the police dog she saw in the road.

Another Dog Theory.

But Gabriel Lee, state game warden, and several others contend the lion tracks were made by a huge tawny dog, part mastiff, owned by Adolph Whitmeyer. The dog's tracks and some of those found possessed identical measurements. Roy E. Wire, who lost several sheep and claims to have found their bones, declared it didn't make any difference which dog it was, the state owes him a bounty.

So Mrs. Bradley, wearing the same hunting suit and leggings which she wore on her African hunt last winter, spent the rest of the morning on the Lakeside beach potting at a target with a specially remodeled Springfield army rifle.

Some of the villagers wanted to know if they were going down to the lake to look for sea lions.

Mrs. Bradley speculated. "I really don't know what to think about this lion hunt," said Mrs. Bradley. "These prints that have been seen appear to have been made by dogs, but surely a dog wouldn't frighten these people who say they have seen it. The people all seem so sincere about it. It may be there is some animal roaming this part of the country, but no lion. The theory, however, that a lion would make for a warmer climate is not altogether a sound one. We have shot lions in Africa at an altitude of between 2,000 and 3,000 feet above sea level where we had to sleep under heavy blankets at night. It was just about as cold as it is here in these Michigan woods now."

Mrs. Bradley gave up the hunt and returned to Chicago at noon, but Mr. Bradley remained to investigate some "lion" tracks which had been found in the vicinity of the Michigan City pumping station. The tracks had been preserved under buckets to prevent partial erasure. They were found to be the prints of the rare female aquila which lurks around pumping stations and waits for the water to meter

MAN'S FALL TOLD ON CLAY TABLET 4,000 YEARS OLD

Babylonian Account Like Genesis.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 24.—[Special.]—Dr. Edward Chierl, assistant professor of Assyriology of the University of Pennsylvania, has deciphered a Babylonian clay tablet of about 2100 B. C. which contains an account of the fall of man paralleling the account in Genesis in many particulars.

The account is in the form of a dialogue between a man and a god. It resembles the biblical story in references to a forbidden food, to the disobedience of man, to man's unlawful attainment of knowledge, to his being driven to a desert and compelled to labor. His wearing of clothing as a result of knowledge is also indicated.

Man Is Driven Away.

The god—which Babylonian god is not indicated—drives man away in self-defense rather than as a punishment. The man is accused of aspiring to a place with the gods, a theme which has been found in other Babylonian literature.

The moral consideration is unimportant in the Babylonian legend, man's position being like that of a criminal in the eyes of a god but a patriot from the viewpoint of man.

There is no allusion in the dialogue just deciphered to the serpent or the tempter, but, according to Dr. Chierl, the serpent was an honest friend and counselor of man, as the Babylonians looked at it. Other Babylonian texts tell of a god who befriended and advised man. Such a counselor of man has been metamorphosed into the serpent in later versions of the fall or of the break between man and the gods, according to the theory of Dr. Chierl.

Earlier than Hebrew Account.

"The date of this tablet is about 2,100 or 2,200 B. C.," said Dr. Chierl. "The writing of the Hebrew account took place according to the best authorities, at some date later than 1,000 B. C."

The newly read tablet is in the Assyrian language and formerly belonged to the library of the temple at Nippur, from which excavations for the University of Pennsylvania museum have recovered several thousand tablets.

How Mrs. Bradley surprised her husband

Bill Bradley arrived home a few minutes earlier than usual and greeted his wife with more than customary good humor. There was a reason for it, as Mrs. Bradley was soon to learn.

"I've—I've—invited some of the fellows and their wives to come out tonight to play bridge," Bill began hesitatingly. "I meant to telephone you this afternoon, but—but—somehow or other it slipped my mind."

Bill stopped and looked up, half expecting a brisk comment on his thoughtlessness. But this time Mrs. Bradley merely smiled. "I'm glad they're coming," she said calmly, to Bill's intense surprise. "I'm sure we'll all have a good time."

They did! The evening went quickly by—Mrs. Bradley enjoyed herself every minute—there was none of that feverish hurrying and scurrying to prepare the usual mid-night luncheon.

Bill was proud of his wife that night. She had never seemed a more perfect hostess.

"It is because I have learned how to entertain," she said. "Why wear yourself out preparing an elaborate spread when sandwiches and cake are quite enough, provided you give people plenty of good coffee? After all, the secret of hospitality is to make people feel at home. And, nothing does that like a chummy, cheery cup of coffee."

Putting on pressure for more sales

What is this pressure you put on?

If it is merely lecturing your salesmen, it is hardly enough. Lectures are as likely to confuse salesmen as to inspire them.

Why not put more pressure on your customers?

This can be done by good printing. If the things you have to sell are things that people need to buy, printing going from you to your customers will put on pressure for more sales.

Ask your printer to show you some examples of printing that have been effective in increasing sales.

He has them and can show them. You will notice two things about these specimens:

First, that the successful ones feature good honest merchandise that people ought to have, at a reasonable price.

Second, that the more effective printing has been the better printing. Your printer will tell you that Better Printing is largely a matter of Better Paper; and this is true.

Although a few answers were received to this first Want Ad, none of the applicants was able to meet the requirements of the position. Chicago Tribune furnishes England with news of Europe and Asia

* Page of Foreign News from the Manchester Guardian with stories purchased from The Chicago Tribune indicated by lack of shading.

TEN YEARS ago world news passed to America largely through English hands. American newspapers obtained information of foreign events by purchasing the reports of London dailies.

Then came the World War and The Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service, which has developed amazingly in numbers and in efficiency since the Armistice.

Now The Chicago Tribune not only furnishes to America a complete report of world events from its own staff correspondents—but it also furnishes to the press of Europe authentic news of Europe, Asia, South America. Some of the world's leading newspapers pay The Tribune to supplement the dispatches of their own men and of press associations.

Lord Burnham, proprietor of The London Daily Telegraph, which buys the foreign news report of The Chicago Tribune, wrote on September 27 to John Steele of The Tribune's staff:

I wish to thank you very warmly for the admirable service of news in the Near East which we are receiving from your correspondents and especially from Mr. John Clayton, whose enterprise and ability are beyond all praise. It is a very important thing for us to have your service and we much appreciate the manner in which you are co-operating with us.

I am writing to Colonel McCormick in the same strain by this mail, but I wish to thank you especially for what you are doing.

The first direct news the British Foreign Office had as to the intentions of Mustapha Kemal Pasha was contained in the exclusive interview secured by John Clayton—Chicago Tribune reporter.

British newspapers have been filled with reports from Clayton at Smyrna, Henry Wales at Chana, Otis Swift at Athens and George Seldes at Moscow—all staff representatives of The Chicago Tribune.

Every important newspaper on the continent of Europe quotes The Chicago Tribune regularly in its foreign news columns.

These news gathering achievements of The Tribune are a powerful influence in substituting in foreign consciousness a more creditable conception of Chicago for the old distorted idea of a hog-slaughtering frontier post.

A book of 300 pages with more than 100 illustrations descriptive of all processes in the publication of The Tribune has just been issued. It is entitled The W G N and may be secured at 1711 Tribune Building or from your bookseller—price $2.00.

The New York Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—(Special).—The really conspicuous incidents of today's markets were the continued fractional weakening of investment bonds, the further decline in foreign exchange, and the advance of cotton prices to the highest since Oct. 8, 1920. Of the stock market not much more can be said than that the day's alternation of violent advances and violent declines, leaving the day's net change extremely irregular, merely embodied the tactics of professional speculators whose views and purposes as to the course of values differed. The interest of the bond market outside public to a market of this sort, in which speculative stocks move up and down 2 to 3 points in one day's business, will justifiably be slight.

Big Slump in Old Liberties.
The gradual slipping back of prices for the old Liberty bonds continued today, the fourth 4% per cent, representing the largest outstanding issue, touched 98.83, as against 101.46 on July 27. Perhaps, on the whole, the most plausible explanation of this continued reaction (which began with sale of bank holdings to replenish their available resources for ordinary loans to clients) is to be found in today's statement by the treasury of the complete results of the latest loan.

If this month's loan has not occasioned selling of outstanding Liberty bonds to transfer the proceeds to the new 4%—and prices of the old and new bonds do not mark this out as probable—then the decline in the "old Liberties" must represent the reaction in price which, even in the bond market, follows immediately on increase in supply.

Foreign Exchange Is Weak.
Today's continued weakness in foreign exchange brought French and Italian rates to new low figures for 1922 and sterling to a price at which all of the 4 per cent rise in the last week was cancelled.

called. That the movement was highly speculative in character seemed to be evident.

The German mark again declined, reaching a new point of maximum depreciation to date, but the financial public is losing interest in the deliberations of the Berlin government as to what would or would not constitute "default" or "bankruptcy." When that government, up to the stopping of reparations payments in the middle of July, ascribed the whole fall in the mark's value to the making of such payments, and when the mark then indulged in a 90 per cent further decline while no reparations payments were being made, it is not easy to take the present official pronouncements seriously.

called. That the movement was highly speculative in character seemed to be evident.

The German mark again declined, reaching a new point of maximum depreciation to date, but the financial public is losing interest in the deliberations of the Berlin government as to what would or would not constitute "default" or "bankruptcy." When that government, up to the stopping of reparations payments in the middle of July, ascribed the whole fall in the mark's value to the making of such payments, and when the mark then indulged in a 90 per cent further decline while no reparations payments were being made, it is not easy to take the present official pronouncements seriously.

If this month's loan has not occasioned selling of outstanding Liberty bonds to transfer the proceeds to the new 4%—and prices of the old and new bonds do not mark this out as probable—then the decline in the "old Liberties" must represent the reaction in price which, even in the bond market, follows immediately on increase in supply.

Foreign Exchange Is Weak.
Today's continued weakness in foreign exchange brought French and Italian rates to new low figures for 1922 and sterling to a price at which all of the 4 per cent rise in the last week was cancelled.

Big Slump in Old Liberties.
The gradual slipping back of prices for the old Liberty bonds continued today, the fourth 4% per cent, representing the largest outstanding issue, touched 98.83, as against 101.46 on July 27. Perhaps, on the whole, the most plausible explanation of this continued reaction (which began with sale of bank holdings to replenish their available resources for ordinary loans to clients) is to be found in today's statement by the treasury of the complete results of the latest loan.

Appreciation

A good bond is first offered at a price low enough to move the entire issue quickly. This price may be less than the price of an occasional sale after the issue has been entirely distributed. Declining interest rates at the same time may increase this tendency.

However, the basic strength of a good bond lies in simplicity of structure and deep-rooted security. Good management enhances the value from year to year by affording the protection of increased earnings.

These factors all working together contribute to the increased value of a good bond. Federal Securities Corporation carefully considers the factor of value in offering bonds to its customers.

BREAK RECORDS IN RACE TO GET MCKICKER'S OPEN

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago oldest playhouse, McKicker's theater, will reopen its doors tomorrow night, almost completely rebuilt after a record breaking race by contractors and workmen. The run down on April 30, the wreckers began operations the next day and Jones, Link & Schaefer have seen to it that things have been kept going at high speed ever since.

Thomas W. Lamb of New York City, designer of the Capitol theater in that city, with Henry L. Newhouse and F. M. Burman of Chicago, associated, are the architects of the new McKicker's. They've evolved the new McKicker's into a classic beauty, dignity, and massiveness will make it the most attractive of the most important in the country.

Will Seat 3,000.

In the interior the architects have carried out their scheme of dignified simplicity—at least, so far as we could glimpse from a fleeting visit through the lobby and main auditorium, with lights dimmed and workmen still rushing about.

There are said to be 2,000 seats, all of them from the first row in the orchestra to the last row in the balcony. There is a mezzanine floor with an electric fountain and fish pond, but there are no promenades or mezzanine boxes of course. The McKicker's has been built on the site of the old McKicker's, which Denman Thompson first produced at one of the earlier McKicker's theaters, in 1875, and has been built and will be shown to elaborate music, along with an unusually

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS PAY U. S.
DEFIES LABPoints to Peril
Radical Rule.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service] (Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune) LONDON, Oct. 25.—[By The Tribune.]—David Lloyd George, two big issues today in his fight to turn to power. The former prime minister took an outspoken stand against the radical demands of the party, including a special levy on fortunes. He made his past proposed future friendly relations with the United States the vehicle of an appeal to the English people for their support in the forthcoming election. He declared England must pay her full share to the United States.

Tomorrow Andrew Bonar Law, new prime minister, will deliver a speech at Glasgow announcing the conservative party's platform, on which he will seek to retain his office. With all cards then laid on the table, the United Kingdom promises to be one of the most interesting political elections of recent times.

King Receives New Ministers. King George today received the new cabinet ministers who rendered their seals of office. His later received the new ministers to whom he handed the seals, thus completing the new government. Installed and most of the ministers immediately took over their departments. The new cabinet is regarded by politicians here as a makeshift, likely to undergo drastic changes. Mr. Bonar Law is returned to the general election.

Respectable Nonentities. It is asserted here that the cabinet is composed of respectable nonentities with a preponderance of peers. Some observers say that so far only men have proved their worth. These are Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, and Lord Cave, lord of the treasury.

Lord Salisbury's only claim to fame is that he is head of the great Cecil and is the son of a former prime minister. Lord Derby is head of the famous Stanley family, a power in the north of England because of his property interests. The Duke of Devonshire is the head of the Cavendish family and has a claim to Canada. Viscount I. is a good party man.

Lord Curzon is the new cabinet member and the rest are promoted secretaries who are reaping the reward of their revolt against Mr. George.

Lloyd George Making Gains. Mr. Lloyd George and his friends are receiving daily better reports from country and the former prime minister is getting a great popular wave everywhere he goes.

His speech today at the gathering of the National Liberal party at the Victoria was the occasion for a popular outburst of enthusiasm. His speech itself was a restrained and dignified statement of his position. Though he could not resist the temptation to poke some gentle fun at his late colleagues, such as Mr. Curzon, who he declared had been considered as a bulwark of reaction or against anything else. He declared his object now was to secure the return to parliament of a party or group which would make a middle course of safety and nation until Great Britain was through its post-war trouble. He announced that he would support a ministry that served the interests of the country.

Says Britain Must Pay U. S. After declaring Great Britain must pay all she owes to the United States, Mr. Lloyd George said: "I do not stand for any policy which says that Great Britain must pay America all her debts but must exact anything from France or Italy in return."

"I am for the league of nations in favor of all countries of being controlled as its members. In favor of making every concession to induce the United States to associate itself with the world body. I still think that you can get the United States league will be crippled."

Must Work with America. Working with the United States must be one of the chief aims of the government. There is a common between these two nations between any other land. The approximate theirs in probably the minds of no two countries do. If these two (Continued on page 4, col. 1)
